Administrative Appointments

Director, Walker Institute of International and Area Studies, University of South Carolina, 2012-2021.

The Walker Institute is the center for internationally-themed research, education and community outreach at the University of South Carolina. The Director is responsible for managing the Institute's annual budget and endowed accounts. The Director manages the organization of conferences, the disbursement of scholarships and grants to students and faculty for international research and travel, oversees travel and accommodations for visitors, including visa and immigration compliance for international visitors and supervises two full-time staff and three graduate assistants. The Director also oversees the submission and implementation of grants to support projects and engages with alumni and stakeholders to build the Walker Institute endowment.

Co- Editor, Governance: An International Journal of Policy, Administration and Institutions, 2005-2017.

Manage the peer-review process for a highly-ranked journal in the fields of political science and public administration whose impact in both fields was consistently rated in the top quartile.

Director, Program in Global Studies, University of South Carolina, 2016-2017.

Founding director and the principal architect of a new interdisciplinary degree which combines language training, specialization in a region of the world and expertise in a global issue (e.g., Conflict and Security, Global Health and Sustainability and Development). Faculty expertise housed across schools and colleges. Worked through all levels of the governance process. Program is a key part of university enrollment management strategy and in its first year enrolled 79 majors.

Chair, Department of Political Science, University of South Carolina, 2013-2015.
Interim Chair 2015-2016.

Managed a department comprised of 24 faculty and seven staff, with 600 undergraduate majors in two undergraduate degrees and approximately 60 students in three graduate programs. Managed a budget of close to three million dollars. Supervised scheduling of classes, annual evaluation of faculty and staff, hiring of faculty and staff, organization of several annual events and symposia and maintained unit compliance with university policy and procedures. Established two student scholarships and one estate gift through alumni fund-raising efforts.

Co-Director, European Union Center, University of Oklahoma, 2001-2012.

Served as Co-director of a center funded by the European Commission. Organized conferences, visitors and outreach events designed to enhance awareness of the European Union in the United States. Led a trip of community leaders to Arezzo, Italy, resulting in a sister-city agreement between Norman, Oklahoma and Arezzo.

Director, School of International and Area Studies, University of Oklahoma, 2001-2009.

Founding Director of the School following its creation in July 2001. Increased the size of the School to one Bachelor of Arts degree (360 students), one Master of Arts degree (15 students), and fifteen faculty, many of whom held joint appointments with other academic units, and an operating budget of $1.3 million. Participated in fund raising efforts to establish four endowed faculty positions.

Executive Training: Educators' Leadership Academy, Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, 2002.

Skill development for managing and leading an academic department.

Book Review Editor, Governance: An International Journal of Policy, Administration and Institutions, 1998-2004.

Co-Director, Department of Education Title VI – Undergraduate International Studies and Foreign Languages (UISFL) Grant, 2000-2002.

Organized two international conferences, faculty development seminars and supervised grants to faculty that allowed them to develop courses to support new programs in Arabic, Portuguese, and International and Area Studies.

Coordinator, European Area Studies, University of Oklahoma, 1994-2001 and 2008-2012.

Advised students and organized guest speakers for an interdisciplinary degree.

Coordinator, Russian and East European Studies, University of Oklahoma 2008-2011.
